STOCK VICTIMS BRING CHARGES

Five Local Residents Suffer
Losses Amounting to $11,210.

ARRESTS NOT YET MADE

W. S. Marko And R. M. Wallach, Addresses Unknown, Alleged to Have Made Misrepresentations.

Information charging W. S. Marko with false pretense and R. M. Wallach with larceny has been laid before Justice of the Peace J. L. Hill by five residents of Gettysburg from whom it is alleged the two men secured various sums of money to the extent of $11,210. That these persons have been apparently swindled was learned this morning when the informations were returned to J. R. Hartman, Clerk of the Courts, for filing.

The men, whose addresses are not given on the initial papers, are alleged to have represented themselves as stock salesmen for the Glass Casket Corporation, of Altoona, to Emma G. Trostle, Margie E. Trostle, C. C. Trostle, J. Harrison Frazer, and his wife, all of Gettysburg.

According to the information papers, W. S. Marko "did unlawfully, and with intent to cheat and defraud the deponents" represent himself as a stock salesman for the Altoona corporation and by means of this representation is alleged to have secured $860 from Emma G. Trostle, $850 from Margie E. Trostle and $900 from J. Harrison Frazer. The amounts were paid either by check or by the transfer of certain securities to Marko, it is stated.

The charge against Wallach is practically the same as that listed against Marko with the exception that he is alleged to have converted, either to his own use or to some other channel, stocks, bonds and other securities entrusted to him as bailee by C. C. Trostle, Mrs. J. Harrison Frazer, Margie E. Trostle and Emma G. Trostle.

According to the allegations as set forth by the information against Wallach, he is charged with having converted securities given him for investment in the casket concern to the amount of $8,600. Of this sum, C. C. Trostle was the heaviest loser, having parted with a total of $7,900 worth of negotiable securities, according to information laid against Wallach.

Wallach and Marko have not been apprehended as yet although, according to the eight informations, the crimes with which they are charged were committed in June.

It is the belief of Clerk of the Courts Hartman that if the home addresses of the two alleged stock swindlers can be procured before the August term of the Quarter Sessions, which convene in two weeks, the Court may issue bench warrants for their arrest. Should that action take place, the men will be taken directly before a grand jury, it is said.

WAS HELD FOR COURT

Charges Preferred Against Thomas
Myrick For Breaking Jail.

Thomas Myrick, of Breckenridge street, who was arrested August 5, charged with the larceny of a number of chickens from Samuel Weikert, who lives south of town, was given a hearing Saturday afternoon, at the conclusion of which he was held in $300 bail for court. The young man was also charged with breaking jail, as on the Sunday afternoon following his arrest, he is said to have scaled the wall of the jail yard. It was several hours before he was apprehended near the pumping station.

The hearing was held before Justice of the Peace J. L. Hill and Mrs. Carrie Weikert testified in the larceny case while Deputy Sheriff J. Howard Hartman and Detective Charles H. Wilson were witnesses called to the second charge. After hearing the testimony, Mr. Hill set bail at $200 for the first charge and $100 additional for the second.

TRAVELING MAN DIES ON TRAIN

J. E. Corkran Was Stricken With Acute Indigestion, it is Believed.

FAMILY OF 4 CHILDREN

Had Visited County on Friday And
Was Returning to Complete Work.
His Father at Point of Death.

Stricken with acute indigestion on the Western Maryland westbound train this morning, John E. Corkran, traveling salesman, died in one of the passenger cars when the train was approaching Porters, York county. In the dead man's clothes was found a ticket to Gettysburg and his body was brought here and removed to the funeral parlors of H. B. Bender and Son. The train reaches Gettysburg at 9:41 a. m.

A few minutes before he died he drank the contents of a bottle labeled Jamaica ginger and asked a passenger nearby to get him a drink of water. Dr. H. M. Hartman, of Gettysburg, who was called to examine the body when the train reached Gettysburg, said there was not sufficient ginger in the bottle if it had been full, to cause death.

Mr. Corkran was 31 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weighed 155 pounds. He has brown eyes and brown hair and was dressed in a summer suit of light shade.

One card found in his wallet showed he was a licensed telegraph operator and had been employed on the Santa Fe railroad. Other effects indicated he had traveled extensively in this country.

As the death occurred in York county, Dr. Crist has notified Coroner McConkey, of York, and will seek authority to render a decision. If the York coroner refuses, he will be asked to come to Gettysburg to view the body.

On Friday, it has been learned, Mr. Corkran accompanied William E. Kapp, of Biglerville, to towns in the upper end of the county. At that time he told Mr. Kapp he was going to spend Sunday with his family in Williamsburg and return to Gettysburg Monday. He was working in the interests of the Northwestern Yeast Company. A shipment of yeast assigned to Mr. Corkran is at the freight office in Biglerville.

Information from Williamsburg says the dead man is the son of Frank P. Corkran, who is at the point of death in a hospital. The young Mr. Corkran is survived by a wife and four small children.

RACING DRIVER STOPS HERE

Ralph K. Mulford Expects to Revolutionize Automobile Industry.

Ralph K. Mulford, known for his exploits as a driver of racing automobiles, stopped in Gettysburg, Sunday evening, enroute from Plainfield, New Jersey, to Cleveland, Ohio. He was unaccompanied and travelled in a large touring car which he was testing for a Cleveland automobile concern. Mr. Mulford has established several coast-to-coast records with stock cars of prominent makes. He has graduated from the racing track. Mr. Mulford stated he contemplates building an automobile which is expected "to revolutionize the industry." Already two machines built under his supervision have been placed on the automobile market. One of these cars, owned and driven by a prominent Pittsburgh banker, stopped at a local garage for minor repairs Sunday morning.

VETERANS SHOW METTLE IN OPENER

Hanover Red Men Fail to Get Scalps From Bald and Gray Team.

Eddie Plank, world series hero of other years, his brother, Ira, and Clarence Cromer twirled the Bald and Gray baseball team to victory in their first game, Saturday, at Hanover. The score was 6-2. Their opponents, a team selected from the Red Men's lodge, of Hanover, erred consistently throughout the contest and the three local pitchers allowed opposing batters but three hits.

The veteran baseball organization showed the large crowd of spectators that they still remembered many of the fine points of the national pastime. On one occasion, they executed a double play which would have done credit to any baseball nine.

Eddie Plank started pitching for the Bald and Gray. He was given a hearty ovation when he took the short field position and began warming up. Eddie pitched three innings, during which time he held the Red Men hitless and scoreless. After his turn on the mound, he played third base and later was switched to center field.

Ira Plank took the pitching reins in the fourth inning and officiated until the seventh round when Clarence Cromer was substituted. Ira allowed but (Continued on Fourth Page)

VACCINATION IS URGED EARLY

Necessary Health Regulation
Should be Complied With Before School Opens.

RULING IS EXPLAINED

Board of Health Physician Must Vaccinate if First Two Attempts Were Failures, Law Says.

Children who will attend school this fall for the first time should be vaccinated now, it they have not been, is the advice of local health authorities in an effort to avoid confusion at the opening of school.

In other years if a child entering school for the first time failed to show marks or have a certificate of successful vaccination before the expiration of the first two weeks of school, it was to be excluded from attendance until the requirements of the law had been complied with.

The law make it possible for the child to remain in school if there is a physician's statement that vaccination was attempted. If the second attempted vaccination is unsuccessful must undergo a third. If failure results, then a certificate will be issued permitting the child to remain in school the remainder of the year. This process must be repeated each year until vaccination results.

Sore arms, it is pointed out, are not conducive to good school work and that is another reason given for early vaccination.

Letters from the State Department of Health have been received by local authorities pointing out the duty of the board of health physician to revaccinate school children, who have been twice unsuccessfully vaccinated, and issuing the necessary legal permit required for admission to school. A certificate signed by a private physician certifying to three unsuccessful vaccinations is not a legal permit for school attendance. This permit must be issued by the board of health physician.

It is pointed out that revaccination or temporary certificates of vaccination are furnished free by the State Department of Health and supplies have been sent to all boards of health that there may be no delay as the opening of the fall school term approaches.

MORE RAILROADS TIED UP BY STRIKE

California Fruit Growers Suffer
Heavily. Report More Trains Abandoned.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Aug. 14—Further paralysis of rail transportation in the far west and at least 2 instances of serious violence against railroad property marked the opening hours of seven weeks of strike of railroad shop craft workers. Northern and Central California today were without fast freight transportation east and indications were the sole remaining passenger route also would be abandoned. Upwards of 1,700 passengers were marooned on 19 trains abandoned in Arizona, New Mexico and California deserts by members of the operating brotherhoods. Many cities of California, San Joaquin valley were without mail service as a result of cessation of transportation.

Fruit growers estimated their accruing losses at $1,000,000 a day and one shipper professed his loss reached $500,000 a day. Reports of instances of personal violence to non-union workers who have replaced the men who went on strike are infrequent, but for the first time attacks were made against railroad property.

Life of passengers endangered and 10 persons were injured when passengers on a week-end excursion were bombed at Granton, New Jersey.

Steel coaches were marked by explosion as veritable bomb proof protection to passengers. At Ash Grove, Missouri, the St. Louis and San Francisco 400-foot bridge over Sac River was dynamited.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT LAST SERVICE

Rev. Dr. J. B. Baker Brings Thirteen-Year Pastorate to a Close.

PERSONAL RELIGION NEED

Dr. A. R. Wentz Chosen to Assume Pastor's Duties Until Successor is Chosen.

Between 800 and 900 persons attended St. James Lutheran church services, Sunday morning, when the Rev. Dr. J. B. Baker officiated as pastor of that congregation for the last time and preached his farewell sermon. Numerous persons, who came late, found every available seat occupied and went away.

Mr. Baker announced the subject of his sermon as "Divine Approval" and took his text from Timothy II, the second chapter and the fifteen verse. "Study to show thyself approved unto God" was the phrase from which the departing pastor drew his remarks.

Special music was rendered before the sermon by the choir and the pastor performed baptismal service for three infants. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Oyler, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Zinn and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sheffer.

"Nothing can take St. James church from her doctrinal moorings," declared the Rev. Dr. Baker in paying tribute to the faith to the members of St. James congregation. "Your reputation is established and must be kept unblemished," he added.

"Study, which is inherent in human nature, must be made part of the life of a church," Mr. Baker asserted. He urged that the members make their religion personal. "This," he stated, "was the Everest of all religious worship."

All work, whether religious or secular, requires study, declared Mr. Baker, and the "higher types of endeavor require more study." "Every apprentice carpenter needs a master workman by his side, and we need the comradeship of the great Carpenter of Nazareth as we journey through life."

Mr. Baker admonished his hearers to keep the church property beautiful and give liberally to the support of (Continued on Third Page)

NOTED ENGLISH PUBLISHER DEAD

Lord Northcliffe Has Been in Dying Condition For a Week.

WAS POWER IN WORLD WAR

Made Tour of World in 1921. Was Strong Advocate of Armament Conference.

(By Associated Press)
London, Aug. 14—Viscount Northcliffe, noted British publisher, died this morning.

The death of no other unofficial person could have made a deeper impression in England than that of Lord Northcliffe. The news was not a surprise as the bulletins issued by the doctors during the past week clearly indicated that their patient was dying. The nature of the fatal disease has not yet been revealed.

Lord Northcliffe was by far the most noted figure in British journalism.

Viscount Northcliffe, the son of an Irish barrister, became an editor at 17 years, owner and publisher of the London Times and Daily Mail, the moulder of public opinion, a man of powerful influence in the making and unmaking of British cabinets and, who with David Lloyd George, contributed in a great measure to arousing England to a more vigorous action in the war.

He was created Baron of the Isle of Tharlet in 1905 and made a Viscount in 1917 after he had served with distinction as head of the British Mission to the United States to consolidate British interests here during the war.

To Viscount Northcliffe is ascribed the arousing of the British public to a knowledge of the fact that the British army in France was insufficiently equipped with high explosive shells, that British guns on the French front were short of ammunition and that Lord Kitchener, then Secretary of State for War, was sending the British gunners shrapnel while Sir John French, was commander, was appealing for the same kind of high explosives that Germany was hurling over the lines in vast quantities.

This exposure has been characterized as one of the outstanding journalistic feats of the war. It resulted in the appointment of David Lloyd George as the first British Minister of Munitions and put him on the road to become Prime Minister.

Lord Northcliffe was ill at the time the Armistice was signed. His illness was diagnosed as due to adenoma of the thyroid gland, for which he underwent an operation in June, 1919. Although he was incapacitated, he exerted considerable influence on the British government during the Peace Conference at Versailles.

Plans were made early in 1921 for a world tour. The start was delayed until July because of labor trouble, involving the publishing industry, and a renewal of hostilities between Lloyd George and himself. Lord Northcliffe (Continued on Second Page)

CHARGE BIG FOUR IN CONSPIRACY

Abandoning of Trains Called Plot by Vice President of Santa Fe.

WORKERS WITHOUT FOOD

Deputies And Guards Fired on in California. Big Tie-up Over Frisco Lines in Birmingham.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The action of members of the "Big Four" brotherhoods in abandoning through passenger trains at Needles and Barstow, Calif., and Seligman, Ariz., was denounced last night as a deliberate conspiracy, a violation of their solemn agreements with the railroad and an inhuman act by A. G. Wells, vice president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, tonight.

Food From Non-Union Men. Las Vegas, Nev., Aug. 14.—In accordance with an agreement to move marooned passengers out of the blistering heat of the desert, four trains left here Saturday night, iced, watered and inspected by strikers. The trains were the Los Angeles Limited, Continental Limited and Overland Express, west bound, and the Overland Express, east bound.

All four trains proceeded slowly for the first mile out of Las Vegas, with striking rail men riding on all cars to frustrate any possible attempts to haul non-union employees out of town, the train crews refusing, according to the strike committee, to handle trains carrying such passengers.

Approximately 150 non-union employees and guards are marooned in the famous "bull pen," built during the 1911 strike. Strikers are picketing the town to prevent delivery of food to these men. Foodstuffs which the Overland Express last night brought in for the non-unionists remained outside the yards, truckmen refusing to handle the shipment.

Governor Emmett D. Boyle arrived here last night on the Overland Express, after having been marooned at Milford, Utah, and Caliente, Nev. He said he would confer with J. H. Fulmer, United States Marshal, who is here representing the Federal Government.

Lead Flies in San Bernardino. San Bernardino, Calif., Aug. 14.—Disorders in connection with the railroad labor situation here broke out Saturday night, several guards and deputy marshals being fired upon by unidentified men at the Santa Fe railroad yards. Subsequently many shots were exchanged. Previous to the shooting, three torpedoes placed on a street car track near the Santa Fe station exploded.

"If the question of martial law is put up to me, I certainly will recommend it," O. S. Greenwood, chief deputy United States marshal, told a delegation of union leaders. "This shooting on my men requires drastic regulations."

Big Tie-Up at Birmingham. Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 14.—A complete tie-up of all outbound transportation, including passenger traffic, freight and mails over the Frisco lines from Birmingham has resulted from the walkout of trainmen Saturday afternoon, which union leaders declare was caused by the presence of armed guards in the local shops.

SOLDIER A SUICIDE

Private Arthur W. Wallick, of York, a member of the military police unit of the 28th division, which is in camp at Mt. Gretna, fatally wounded himself in an attempt at suicide, Saturday afternoon. The young man died in the Good Samaritan hospital, Lebanon, at 12.45 o'clock Sunday morning.

No reason for the attempt at self-destruction could be ascribed by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wimbart Wallick, 510 East Maple street, York, when interviewed last evening.

The guardsman is aged 19 years. He left Saturday, August 5, with the military police for Camp Duffy, Mt. Gretna, for two weeks of military training.

CABLEGRAMS OVER $1 WORD

London-New York Messages Are Being Sent Via Buenos Aires.

London, Aug. 10.—Americans are paying over $1 a word to send messages from England to New York, taking a 15,000-mile route, by way of Lisbon, the Cape Verde Islands and Buenos Aires, due to the tie-up in the transatlantic cables held by Irish irregulars.

Telegraphic communication between Great Britain and the United States continues to be gravely affected. The Irish rebels continue to hold 10 of the 17 cables in the transatlantic service. There is little prospect of an early resumption to normal service. In the meantime, press associations and newspaper correspondents are limited to a small fraction of their usual services because of the tie-up.

TWO KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

Four Injured When Machine Falls in Field Near Detroit.

Cleveland, Aug. 14.—Louis Yahn, 21, of Newark, New Jersey, and James Ray, 21, mechanic and aviator at the Medina Aviation Club, were killed late yesterday when their airplane went into a tail spin and fell about 200 feet as they were preparing to land at Chippewa Lake, near Medina, Ohio. Yahn was visiting Ray, his lifelong friend.

Detroit, Aug. 14.—One man was probably fatally injured and three others severely injured when an airplane dashed to pieces in a field near Redford, 10 miles northwest of Detroit, yesterday.

The machine, piloted by Guy K. Rudd, Detroit, carried two friends of Rudd and one commercial passenger. The latter, Martin Driscoll, 32, of Detroit, suffered a broken arm, a broken leg and a probable fracture of the skull, and was severely shocked. Physicians say he cannot live.

Rudd was cut and bruised and is suffering from shock. Carl Mager, 17, Roseville, Michigan, and Harold Wiltzie, friends of Rudd, received broken legs and bruises and are suffering from shock. The three are in a Detroit hospital, where it is said they will recover.

The party of four had just left Redford, and the machine was about 250 feet in the air when it suddenly went into a nose dive and plunged to the ground. The machine was demolished, but did not catch fire.

G. L. Trena, who had taken pictures of the plane just before it left the field, was invited to ride, but when he stepped over to a nearby automobile to tell his wife the machine took the air without him. He saw the fall and took pictures of the wreck.

The plane was a German machine which had seen service in the war.

Rudd was unable to tell what caused it to fall, asserting that "something went wrong."

DRY AGENTS WILL CARRY RIFLES

Requisition Made For Equipping Officers in This State.

Federal prohibition agents will shortly take up the trail of bootleggers armed with United States Army rifles, John E. Wright, head of the State field forces of the prohibition department, declares.

Requisition for equipping all agents in the State with 45-caliber automatic revolvers and Army rifles have been sent to Washington, said Mr. Wright, and the guns are expected here soon.

Rifles will be used principally in pursuits of bootleggers, it is said, their demand being brought about through the general introduction of high-powered automobiles by the illegal disposers of liquor and a growing disregard for prohibition agents, it is said.

Use of automobiles along the coast by prohibition agents is also planned to combat efforts to land liquor at isolated spots from ships, State Director John T. Davis has announced that the Philadelphia district would shortly be equipped with machines.

LIBERTY BONDS RETIRED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—A total of $340,733,900 of Liberty bonds and Victory notes are retired during the last fiscal year by the Treasury at a cost of $338,847,899 out of repayments of principal by foreign governments, and through the operations of the sinking fund, it was reported tonight by Secretary Mellon.

Bonds retired by foreign repayments were 44 per cent bonds of the third loan totaling $64,837,900 face amount at a cost of $64,367,997. Repayments included $32,511,994 by the French Government, $30,500,000 by the British Government on account of Pittman silver, $378,500 by the Cuban Government, $440,558 by the Belgian Government and $48,564 by the Serbian Government.

"For the most part," Secretary Mellon said, "these payments were made on special account, or by way of adjustment of accounts, and should not be taken to indicate that any general program of repayment of the foreign obligations has begun."

RAIL HEADS FIRM ON SENIORITY

Executives Declare They Will Fight to Finish on Question.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE

Union Reply Held Up And No Further Conferences Planned. Big Four Scored.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Representatives of the rail executives of the country announced last night through an authorized spokesman that they would stand squarely and firmly against restoration of seniority rights to striking shop craft workers.

The executives' committee which came here yesterday and delivered to President Harding their response to his last settlement proposal and later met with chiefs of the train service brotherhoods, let it be known that no further conferences of any kind were planned.

The announcement was described by one spokesman for the executives as meaning "a fight to the finish" in the existing strike so far as the railroad managements were concerned.

White House Conference. Developments in the strike situation consisted chiefly of a morning conference at the White House between President Harding and a delegation of railway executives and a meeting of the leaders of the striking shopmen, the four brotherhoods and affiliated organizations at machinists' headquarters. Secretary Hoover attended the White House conference.

After an hour's conference with the President, the executives, headed by T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman, held a session of an hour and a half at their headquarters.

Union Reply Withheld

The union and brotherhood officials, after a session of several hours, announced that adjournment had been taken until today.

Union leaders meantime withheld their rejection of the President's offer while Warren S. Stone and other heads of the four brotherhoods remained in executive session. It was possible, they said, that the brotherhood officials who have acted as mediators might institute further mediation attempts.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY WHEAT SMUT

Midwestern Fields Infected. Seek Varieties of Grain Immune to Parasite.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Aug. 14.—Farmers in the mid-western wheat fields where the spread of flag smut among the crops is causing increased loss in the harvest, are urged by experts, of the agriculture department to plant varieties next fall which are immune to the parasite or more highly resistant. The region adjacent to St. Louis in Illinois and Missouri has been found to contain an area of about 700 square miles in which the spores are spreading rapidly, where, in 1911, only 72 square miles were infected. The department experts believe that attempts at eradication are likely to fail and that change in planting is the only means of checking the spread.

The damage wrought by the smut amounts to a large figure. In Australia, where conditions are similar to those in some parts of this country fields show losses as high as 20 per cent, it is said, and the infection is, in general, like that of bunt or sticking smut in our own wheat growing regions. In the two states where this smut has been found, parts of fields have shown losses as high as 20 per cent, but it is doubtful if field losses there have ever been as much as 5 per cent of the crop.

A number of varieties of wheat grown in this area have been found not to take the disease at all or to be highly resistant to it. Of the soft winter wheats, Red Rock, Stoner or Marvelous, Fulcaster, Mammoth Red and Dietz are in this class. Of the hard, red winter wheats, Illinois 10-110, Kanred, Illinois 12-41 and P-1068, are highly resistant if not immune, the Department states. Numerous other strains and varieties have shown high resistance, but some varieties that have been very popular in this district have been found to take flag infection very readily.

STRIKER LOSES LIFE SAVINGS

Takes Money From Bank And Strangers Give Him Waste Paper in Return.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 14.—Institution of relief measures for families of striking miners was made the excuse for a fraud by which Nikolai Dukwut, of Luzerne borough, was robbed of savings of 20 years, amounting to $2600, by confidence men posing as philanthropists. Nikolai's money was in the Luzerne National Bank, and after four months of idleness he had carefully avoided drawing on his reserve. To his home one night came a stranger, telling him he had been selected to give out a great amount of money for the miners' benefit because he understood several languages in use among the mine-workers.

"We must know you are sincerely interested in our plan," the stranger said. "It would be better to select a man with a little money to offer as security because we are going to turn over a vast sum which we want to be sure will find its way into the homes of families where actual need is known. Could you supply security?"

Dukwut was sure that he could. He went to the bank the next morning and drew his entire savings to prove his good faith. Then he went to a partly-built house and met two men, one of them with a satchel containing bundles of money. One package was counted and contained $5000. Apparently it was thrown back into the satchel with the other bundles, the key was turned and the satchel handed over to Dukwut, who gave one of the strangers the money taken from the bank. The strangers wished him success in his charitable work and went away. At home Nikolai broke open the satchel and found 15 bundles of newspaper clippings and one real $2 bill.

LOST CHILD DID NOT TELL HER NAME

Is Later Identified as Pearl Sterner And Returned to Parents.

Wandering away unnoticed from the home of her parents, Saturday evening about 8 o'clock, Pearl Sterner, aged 3 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sterner, North Stratton street, was found at the top of the stairs leading to the Plank apartments, York street.

Professor Guile W. Lefever, occupant of one of the apartments, discovered the little girl standing outside his door. Unable to tell her name, or where she lived, Mr. Lefever notified Policeman Florence. Officer Florence took the child in charge, but was unable to learn her identity or where she lived.

In answer to questions, the little girl replied that she lived with her sister, but beyond that meaningless phrase, she could throw no light on her identity.

With Officer Florence, the little girl went to Center Square where neighbors of the Sterners recognized her. Satisfied with the identification of the neighbors, Officer Florence turned the little girl over to their custody. A few minutes later she returned to Mrs. Sterner, who had become alarmed at the absence of her daughter and instituted search.

According to Mr. Sterner, this was the second time Saturday evening his daughter had left home. On the first occasion she was found sitting on a porch along Carlisle street.

NEED AIR NAVY

England Plans To Increase Number of Flying Ships.

(By Associated Press)

London, Aug. 14.—"The navy of the future must take to the air; otherwise it will be at a hopeless disadvantage," said Captain Viscount Curzon in the House of Commons when the naval estimates came up for discussion. He pointed out that according to the latest figures the navy had only nine fighting airplanes, in contrast with the 86 possessed by the United States navy.

To offset the allegation of Captain Curzon, the Air Ministry has issued a statement declaring the British navy to be better equipped with airplanes than that of any other power and claiming no fewer than 98 fighting air machines in commission, with a large number of reserves.

George Lambert, a former Civil Lord of the Admiralty, expressed the opinion that the British navy was very inadequately equipped with aircraft. "Can the navy say that from the defensive point of view the money of the taxpayer is being spent to the best advantage?" he asked. "You are going to spend £16,000,000 on two new battleships, but it is useless to spend money on capital ships unless you have sufficient aircraft for the ships you already possess."

Thought for Today.

When I have more to do than I can do, I shall do well what I can do, and not do the rest at all, rather than do all poorly.

attacked the motives of the Premier and Marquis Curzon in desiring to represent Great Britain at the Washington Arms Conference. As a result of this attack, government news was barred from the Northcliffe press. Lord Northcliffe sailed for America defying the boycott.

During his world tour, Lord Northcliffe occupied the public attention of each country he visited, displaying great knowledge of the problems facing various nations. Arriving in New York, July 23, 1921, he warmly endorsed President Harding's plans for the armament conference. In Australia he saw a grave danger in that country being overrun by Asiatics, and in several addresses revealed an intimate knowledge of Australia's national problems. During his tour of the Pacific he made a close study of the situation in the Far East, and in Hongkong expressed the opinion that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance was a bar to its solution. He returned to London from his tour in May, 1922. In June he was reported to have made a tour of Germany incognito.

BOTH PHONES FUNERAL PARLOR

COUNTY FARM BUREAU SECTION

Agent Shenk Discusses Sheep And Swine in News Articles.

The season is near at hand when Adams county sheep men will find it necessary to choose a ram for next year's service. This particular phase of flock management is usually postponed until the very last minute, and then it becomes necessary for the flock owner to take whatever he can get. He may be lucky enough to get a real good sire, but more often, the best he can do is to purchase a grade or scrub substitute for the pure bred ram that he might have had.

The farmer who has an average sized flock can no more afford to use a scrub or a grade ram in service to his ewes, than can the extensive sheep raiser. W. B. Connell, Sheep Extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College, claims that a good pure bred ram will pay for himself in one year. When the flock is small, say from 12 to 20 ewes, a good strong lamb can be used. It is imperative, however, that the selection made while there are plenty of good rams available. Assistant County Agent Shenk is ready to assist any flock owner who is in the market for a good pure bred sire.

Swine.

In traveling over the state this time of year, specialists in the Animal Husbandry Extension Department at State College, find that a large number of brood sows are confined to dry lots, or even very small pens. These conditions are conducive to excessive fatness which lowers the vitality of the embryo litter and causes the sow to become clumsy and sluggish. In practically 100 per cent of these cases, one will find a good clover field or wheat stubble with a good growth of young clover on the farm. A temporary fence around a part of such fields would be a paradise to the sow that has been confined.

The growing crops can also be turned on such pasture. This run will provide an abundance of green feed for shotes and brood sows alike, will tend to keep the digestive tract open and aids materially in the health of the individual. Exercise for the sow is absolutely essential to the production of a strong, healthy, vigorous litter of pigs at farrowing time. By feeding a limited amount of grain in the pasture, the sow is forced to take some exercise. It should also be remembered that a good supply of clear, fresh water should be available. If there is no natural shade in these fields, a temporary shelter from the heat of the sun should be constructed.

two hits and Cromer one.

Jack Starry, of York Springs, who played second base for the local aggregation, was the individual star of the afternoon. Three hits and two runs were garnered by him. He had also a perfect fielding record.

The Bald and Gray team scored first in the second inning. Hamm, at first for the Red Men, missed a fast one which Eddie Plank knocked to his position, allowing the southpaw to reach first safely. J. Bream ran for Eddie and later brought the run in when Woodward hit to the outfield.

Young brought in the first scalp for the Red Men in the fourth inning when Timmins missed one of Ira's curves.

Sherman, the opposing pitcher, had but two strikeouts to his credit, one of which was Eddie Plank and the other Catcher Timmins. Sherman, who is a brother of "Connie" Sherman of Blue Ridge fame, was hit consistently while his teammates gave him ragged support. Bald and Gray batters ran up hits to the number of eleven off Sherman, but he was allowed to remain in the box for the entire session.

Following the game, Manager Ira Plank was besieged by managers of other teams wanting games. All offers were refused, Manager Plank announced. He would not state whether the Bald and Gray team would be kept together or allowed to disorganize.

Later Saturday evening, members of the Bald and Gray team were guests of the Red Men at a dinner served at Abbottstown.

ARENDTSTVILLE DEFEATS BIGLER

Shoop Effective in Pinches. Misses Start Big Rally in Fourth.

A series of misplays in the fourth inning by the Biglerville players, preceded an Arendtsville rally in the game Saturday afternoon and before the last man was out the "A's" had scored four runs—enough to win. The final score was 5-2.

Charley Raff opposed "Rus" Shoop in the battle. It was a toss-up for pitching honors. Shoop was best in pinches, but Raff was steady throughout, allowing only five hits. Johnny Raff was the bright fielding star, scintillating with two difficult catches in left garden. Arendtsville played an errorless game.

The fourth inning tells the story of the game. H. Raff singled. Rice hit a grounder to C. Raff, who threw to second, but Knouse dropped the ball. L. Kane single on second scoring Raff. Rice took third. Rice scored on Thomas' out at first. R. Shoop singled and stole second, Kane scoring. Shoop scored on C. Kane's single.

Arendtsville scored another in the seventh when C. Kane walked, went to second on a passed ball and scored when G. Knouse dropped the third strike on Roberts and Foreman made a wild heave to third.

Biglerville scored in the fifth on Slaybaugh's single and Carey's three-bagger. In the eighth they added another tally when Carey reached first on a fielder's choice. He stole second and scored on Guy Knouse's two-bagger.

RUTH OPERATED ON

Abscess Removed From Right Leg. Reported Improved.

New York, Aug. 14.—Reports yesterday from Mrs. Ruth, at her apartment in the Ansonia Hotel, indicated that Babe Ruth, the mighty home run slugger of the Yankees, was getting along nicely following an operation performed on his right leg Saturday for the removal of an abscess. The operation was performed by Ruth's private physician, Dr. George King, at St. Vincent's Hospital. The big slugger had been suffering severely since last Tuesday, when he injured his leg sliding in a game at Detroit.

Friday the leg became infected and Dr. King insisted that Ruth undergo immediate treatment. The infection is similar to that which attacked Babe Ruth during the world's series last fall and put him out of the remainder of the series. Ruth is not likely to play in the series with the Detroit Tigers at the Polo Grounds.

Ward clubs, which has been set for Wednesday evening. First Ward now leads the league with a percentage of .636, or one game ahead of Second Ward, with a percentage of .600.

Should the First Ward win the remaining contest and Second Ward take both of the games with Third Ward, they would finish the season tie for first place. It has been suggested that in this case, a series of championship contests be arranged between the two clubs to decide the supremacy. It has also been suggested that the Bald and Gray team play the League champions for the championship of the town.

Current Business Conditions

By GEORGE E. ROBERTS

(From the Monthly Bulletin for August Issued by The National City Bank of New York)

THE leading topics of interest in the past month have been the crops and the strikes. The crops have come along finely. The wheat crop is fully as large as last year, the corn crop promises to be around 3,000,000,000 bushels and other food and feed crops are good. The amount of dairy products going into storage is larger than last year. Altogether, the cost of living so far as foodstuffs are concerned promises to be on about the same basis for the coming year as for the past. The cotton crop, however, is disappointing and likely to be short of the world's needs. The tendency of clothing materials is now upward, but manufacturing costs are slightly lower than last year.

The improvement in industry has proceeded so far that the amount of enforced unemployment is scarcely more than in any time of moderate prosperity, but the pending strikes have not only stopped the earnings of the strikers but are beginning to cause unemployment and losses in other quarters. President Harding has been active in his efforts to settle both the big strikes without harsh or unusual measures. He proposed for the coal industry that the miners return to work immediately at the scale of wages being paid when the strike began, this situation to last until a public commission, to be appointed by him, could render a decision upon wages; the commission later to make a thorough investigation of the industry, looking to the development of a permanent policy for the preservation of peace and wholesome working conditions. The miners rejected the proposal.

The President has also made a proposal for the settlement of the railroad strike, but at this writing the outcome is undetermined. With these strikes in industries that are vital to the public welfare out of the way, the outlook is good for fall business, although it cannot be said that a complete and equitable readjustment of wages and prices has taken place. Industrial costs, in which fuel and transportation are leading factors are too high for the prices of farm products and raw materials generally, and a full measure of prosperity cannot be realized while this remains the case.

It goes without saying that the two strikes are a very grave menace to the public welfare. The industries cannot run without coal and transportation service. Unless a settlement is reached, industries will close down, wages will stop for millions of people, food cannot be supplied to the cities, public utilities such as waterworks will be unable to function and society will be faced with a calamity even greater than war, because women and children will suffer as much as men. It cannot be supposed that the strikers are indifferent to the suffering thus threatened, and which affects the families of all classes alike. They must assume that their opponents will give way in order to prevent it, but there is as much obligation to protect the community on one side as on the other. Every individual and group has a responsibility to society but society ought not to be dependent upon the grace of any minority. It must have the power to protect itself.

The Common Interest in Order
One of the first conditions of civilization is that there shall be orderly methods of settling differences as they arise between members of the community, according to principles based upon equity and the common interests, instead of allowing such issues to be fought out with fists or clubs or otherwise. The appeal to force has no place in civilized society except as society itself may discipline its unruly members. It is a condition of every game in which rivals contend that there shall be rules and authority to enforce them and decide every question that arises. Abolish the umpire and the rules, and the game disappears. If you care for the game, support the authority that maintains it.

The trouble with the strikers in these cases is not that they contend for what they believe to be their rights, but that they refuse to recognize that other rights are involved, and that all rights are entitled to a hearing together and to adjudication in an orderly manner. Moreover, the matter of first importance is that there shall be a method of settlement that does not interfere with the common services necessary to society.

When it is affirmed that the public interest must be paramount, it does not follow that individual interests are sacrificed. On the contrary individual interests are protected by the maintenance of public authority. That is illustrated by the regulation of traffic in the streets of a crowded city. The regulations are a restraint upon individual freedom in the streets, but

"Gold! Gold!"

Back in the '40's it took months for the thrilling news of California's gold strike to cross the continent. Today, a few hours after so important a discovery, the entire story would be known to newspaper readers throughout the country.

In the early days, news spread by word of mouth. Today, the telegraph and telephone speed the message into the newspaper office—it is rushed into type, the paper is printed and shortly the news becomes public property.

There are two kinds of news in the paper. One consists of the affairs of other people; their sayings, doings and what they're going to do; things that have happened, may happen and didn't happen.

The other kind of news is about your affairs. That's the part you'll find in the advertisements. There's a lot of valuable news there about things you want or will want; things that have to do with your own personal comfort, convenience and every-day efficiency.

Every advertisement carries a personal message to some one. Many advertisements carry messages of vital interest or value to you.

That's why you can't afford to miss the advertisements.

Read them. The advertisements are decidedly valuable to you.

Legion Party Gets Cordial Reception Upon Arrival at Cherbourg.

Cherbourg, France, Aug 14—A large number of American Legionnaires arrived here yesterday, on board the steamer President Roosevelt, to visit the battlefields of France. All the men were in uniform and were welcomed by cheering crowds. They were received by a special guard of honor headed by Admiral Grout, Governor of Cherbourg, Sub-Prefect Gergoire and Mayor Mahieu.

There were brief formal speeches, amid which three toasts were drunk in champagne. These were to the United States, the American Legion and President Harding. The Legionnaires left by special train at 11:45 o'clock A. M. for Paris.

On arriving in Paris, the Americans will be met at St. Nazaire Station by a company of infantry. Today they placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and later will be guests of the Government at luncheon. After visiting the battlefields they will proceed to Belgium, where King Albert will receive them on August 30.

Divorce Easy in Uruguay.

"I do not wish to live any longer with this person!" In Uruguay, "the divorcee's paradise," that is all a dissatisfied wife need say to a court to be awarded an absolute divorce. She gets it without further trouble. There is no such thing as a legal obstacle to be overcome. When the Uruguayan husband wants a divorce he has a harder job. He must go into court, make accusations on which to base his demand, and then prove his charges. Uruguayan women when they marry retain their names and their identity.

LAD COMMITS SUICIDE

Fear He Had Injured Younger Brother Promoted Deed.

East Madison, Me., Aug. 19—Fear that he had injured his younger brother, whom he had hit with a wrench, caused Malcolm Reed, 11 years old, to commit suicide here Saturday. The body of the boy was found under a barn near his home by his father, Ruel Reed, shortly after a shot was heard by the boy's mother.

Investigation showed that the boy had taken a 12-gauge shotgun from the house and a stove scraper. Crawling under the barn, he placed the muzzle of the gun to his head and, pushing the trigger with one end of the scraper, blew the top of his head off. Malcolm was one of six children.

TEMPERATURE AT CENTER OF CAN IMPORTANT IN PRESERVING FOOD

For Uniformly Good Results a Sufficient Degree of Heat Must Penetrate All Parts of Jar and Be Maintained Long Enough to Render All Micro-organisms Harmless.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In canning work one of the most important considerations is the time required for the food at the center of the container to reach the temperature of the retort or water bath in which it is being processed. United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin 956, A Study of the Factors Affecting Temperature Changes in the Container During the Canning of Fruits and Vegetables, which has just been issued, centers attention on these time-temperature relations. The purpose has been to bring out the underlying principles, rather than to lay down definite rules of procedure. The results of this experimentation are of interest to scientific workers in the field, to commercial canneries, and similar large-scale handlers of foods.

Destroys Bacteria.

Successful preservation of foods by canning is due primarily to the fact that in the processing, or cooking, the bacteria and other micro-organisms which cause spoilage are destroyed. Since the elimination of these micro-organisms is dependent upon the use of heat as a sterilizing agent, it becomes of paramount importance to know just what temperature and processing periods will destroy them. If uniformly good results are to be expected a sufficient degree of heat must penetrate to all parts of the can or jar and must be maintained long enough to render all micro-organisms harmless. Before an accurate judgment as to the proper cooking period can be found it is necessary to know how long a time is required for the heat to reach the food at the center of the container.

The mercury thermometer, if properly calibrated and standardized, has been found sufficiently accurate for practical work. A satisfactory apparatus has been devised for using the mercury thermometer to measure temperature changes at the center of the can.

The fruits and vegetables as processed in these tests fall roughly into two groups with reference to time-temperature relations. The first group consists of those fruits and vegetables, such as string beans, packed so that there is a free liquid filling the interspaces between the pieces of material. The rate of change of temperature at the center of the can in this group is very rapid. The second group consists of materials of a heavy or pasty nature that are packed in such a way that little or no convection can occur, as with corn or sweet potatoes. The rate of change of temperature in this group is very slow. Sometimes mechanical agitation is employed. Variations in the composition of the material, however, have very little effect if the consistency of the material is such that convection can occur.

Salt Has Little Effect.

Salt has very little direct effect upon the rate of change of temperature in the can. Dilute sugar solutions have only a small effect, but the concentrated solutions retard the rate of change. Solutions of starch also retard it. In 5 per cent starch the consistency becomes such that all convection is stopped and the rate of change is very slow. Other material of a viscous nature, such as protein or pectin, retards the rate of change of temperature. The retarding effect of a glass container is of more importance in the first group than in the second. Glass cools faster than tin in the air, but cannot be cooled in water.

Differences in the diameter of the container are only of importance in the processing of materials of heavy consistency such as corn. Whether the processing temperature is 100 degrees, 109 degrees, 120 degrees, or 121 degrees C., the temperature of the bath or retort is reached in the container in approximately the same time. Higher temperatures, however, break down the tissues of tomatoes, which are a striking exception to the rule. Both the single period and intermittent processes are studied in this bulletin, which is available upon application to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Yes one almost believes it CYCLONE.

But do not feel abashed. For you are not the only one who at first glance thought it CYCLONE instead of what it is.

Many Hummers Found.

The majority of our North American humming birds construct little, cup-shaped nests frequently overlaid with bits of moss or lichen, pasted on by the builder through the use of its own glutinous saliva, says the American Forestry Magazine. Some six or seven hundred species of these little gems of the bird world have been found in America and some of the off-lying islands of the West Indies.
